

Woodstock Theological Center International Visiting Fellowship Program

What?

An opportunity to spend time carrying out a personal research project at the Woodstock Theological Center, an independent, Jesuit-sponsored research institute located at Georgetown University that engages in theological and ethical reflection on topics of social, economic, business, scientific, cultural, religious, and political importance. As a Woodstock International Visiting Fellow, you will have access to the Georgetown University Library, the Woodstock Theological Center Library, and the intellectual companionship of the Woodstock senior research fellows and Georgetown faculty.

While the main purpose of your Woodstock fellowship will be to conduct research on your chosen topic, Woodstock hopes that all International Visiting Fellows also contribute to the Center's mission and projects. In addition, the permanent and visiting fellows have a theological seminar that meets twice a month to discuss a book that we read in common.

Types of Fellowships

Woodstock offers the following fellowships:

- Fellowships for Jesuits. Woodstock offers short-term and long-term fellowships to Jesuits who have a doctorate or equivalent education and whose home province is not in the United States. The fellowship award package includes room and board at the Woodstock Jesuit Residence, a modest monthly spending stipend, health care insurance, and travel reimbursement.
- Fellowships for Members of Other Religious Organizations. Woodstock offers short-term and long-term fellowships to members of religious organizations who have a doctorate or equivalent education and whose home is not the United States. The fellowship award package includes a generous monthly stipend and travel reimbursement. This fellowship award package does not include living accommodations and health care insurance.
- Fellowship for Lay Scholars. Woodstock offers short-term and long-term fellowships to lay scholars who have a doctorate or equivalent education and whose home country is not the United States. The fellowship award package includes a generous monthly stipend and travel reimbursement. This fellowship award package does not include living accommodations and health care insurance.

When?

Woodstock is accepting applications for the 2013-2014 academic year (September 2013 through May 2014). The application deadline is December 31, 2012. We will also accept applications for the 2014-2015 academic year. Please see the Woodstock International Visiting Fellowship website for more information on the application process and to download an application:

<http://woodstock.georgetown.edu/programs/International-Visiting-Fellows.html>.

For additional information please contact the Woodstock International Visiting Fellowship Office at wtc-vf@georgetown.edu or (202) 687-3532.